

FRIENDS (Written Acrostic Poem)

Beyond this immense world I stand,
Obscure thoughts come into my mind,
Back to the memories I had gone,
Bountiful friends who were kind,
Yonder is the distance wishing they were behind.

Just as I left those days of my life,
A new beginning is starting to arrive,
Murmuring to myself to be as sharp as a knife,
Eager to succeed in order to survive,
So I must be strong and thank God I strived.

Sooner I met these exquisite guys,
Days with them turned special every time,
Accepted my personality with no lies,
Gratitude in my heart I felt no crime.
As we cherish every moment we are together,
Tougher I am to face every problem,
A new I became so much better,
Nuisance maybe to others but I am proud to tell that I LOVE THEM.
